GOLD MEN IN HARMONY

President, Cabinet, Officials and Underlings Pulling Together.

NEW YORK FOR CONVENTION

The Desire Is to Have the Big Political Pow-Wow Surrounded by Influences That Prevent Undue Conces sions to the Silver Element-West and East Have Joined Hands.

If all the influence of the administration, aided by the utmost endeavors of those Democrats who believe that any marked deviation from what is known as a sound money policy would be detrimental to iness interests of the country, can convention of their party will be held in New York city.

No such united and determined efforts have been made in the history of politics to influence the geographical location of a nominating convention as those now being exerted. Not only the President himself, the members of his Cabinet, powerful friends in public and private life, but the vast army of subordinates, extending to the most minute ramifications of the Govsutal service, are harmoniously working for the same purpose.

Those who believe in gold as the basis for computing all imancial values have effected a thorough organization, having for its object the holding of the Democratic national convention in New York. The West has joined bands and combined forces with the East in this matter. AGENT ON THE ROAD.

The Sound Money Club of the Metropo hs has for three months past had a trusted and reliable representative on the road, traveling through the country, visiting all the principal cates, comerring with the prominent State and local leaders and selecting agents to continue the development of sentiment favorable to New York.

The chief object in connection with this movement is to have the convention surrounded by such associations and influences as to be constantly confronted by a great ob-ject lesson, showing the commercial ne-cessity for a gold standard. There is no inderlying desire to luriner the interests of any specific candidate for the nomina-tion, but the sole motive is to prevent toe convention from making any unione conces-sions to the silver element of the party and to minimize so far as possible the probabilities of discord.

It has been for some time apparent that the aim of those Democratic leaders in authority would be to commit the party rather to gold monometallism than to recognize an increased use of silver as money, thus leaving the Republicans to bear the hear and burden of solving the free coinage problem.

This determination was practically set forth in the statement given out by Sec. retary Morton reviewing the results of the recent elections. Every authority of both low and high degree has attributed bemocratic defeat in Kentucky as indi-cating nothing but a timely and stinging rebuke to the doctrine of free silver.

URGED IMMEDIATE ACTION It is said that during the recent visit of Mr. Cleveland and Secretaries Lamont and Herbert to New York they impressed upon ex-Secretary Whitney and those with whom they came in contact the necessity for immediate action looking to the selec-tion or that city as the place for holding the National Convention.

In any event, the cits staken from the feet of this distinguished trio when taking their departure had not settled until subscription papers were being circulated in every ward throughout New York city the purpose of raising an enormous fund to be expended in entertaining the convention, if secured.

The enthosiastic announcement was made that at least an aggregate of $250, $000 would be raised. It is safe to volunteer the opinion that in these times much bursement of a quarter million dellars.

Nearly three decades have elapsed since the national nominating convention of a great political party was held in New York. The last occasion of that characters was in 1868: Horatio Seymour, of that Brate, was chosen to lead the then forlor hopes of the Democrats against the Re-publicans headed by General Grant. Since that time the Democratic party has given six Presidential nominations to the State of New York without holding a bational convention within its territory, Greely, Tilden and Hancock were each nominated once, and Mr. Cleveland three times. But in those conventions it was a matter of geography and not finance Now it is necessary to hold up before the delegates a great object lesson as to the If influence, hard work, and manipulation can bring such a result to pass the Democratic National Convention will be held in New York.

Starts a Presidential Boom That Can Be Worked Several Ways.

Pennsylvania Delegation to Be Made Solid for Him, and He Will Use It as a Lever.

The assertion is made on seemingly good authority that a probably successful effort will be made by the friends of Senator Quay in Pennsylvania to send a delegation to the Republican national convention pledged to support the Senator for the Presidential nomination. It is understood also that this is done in accordance with Senator Quay's expressed desire, but whether the ator regards his Presidential boom seriously or not is a matter of conjecture.

This would be a condition similar to that which existed in 1884, when the New York delegation supported Chauncey M. Depen for the Presidential nomination, which was afterward given to Benjamin Harrison.

In the present instance it is generally believed that Senator Quay's desire is merely to emphasize his victory over the Hastings factions by securing the indorsement of his State for the highest office, to prevent the pleuging of the occepation to any other can-dinates, and incidentally to nip in the bud any aspirations which Gov. Hastings might have in the direction of the Presidency.

Quay has been ontspoken in his advocacy of accus incumation, but it would enable him to avoid many embarrassments and possible conflicts with the friends of Me-Kimley and Harrison if the delegates from Pennsylvania could be sent to the conven-tion instructed to vote for Quay and for no one else. Over such a delegation he would doubtless have absolute control and could wheel them into sine for his favorite whenever the opportunity offered. In addition to this it would probably increase Quay's influence in the convention if it were known that he had the Pennsylvania delegation solidly behind him.

These are the reasons that are thought by politicians to have influenced the Pennsylvania boss in appearing upon the poli-tical stage in the character of a Presi-dential candidate.

Perhaps It Is Pulling the Wires of Opposition to Crisp.

ARE RIVAL CANDIDATES

Both Would Like to Succeed Senator Gordon-Movement Has Profoundly Excited Political Circles-Southern Members Auxious About the Situation in Their Section.

While the opening of the Republican Con-gressional circus is being delayed, pend-ing the arrival of Speaker-to-be Reed, interest continues unabated in the antago ism to Mr. Crisp as the caucus nominee of he Democrats for Speaker. This movement has created a profound impression in political circles. Until made ublic by The Times it was taken for granted that the empty honor of the Democratic mination for Speaker would be given o Mr. Crisp on a silver salver; a sixteento-one salver, or, in any event, with the bearty concurrence of all Democrats. "I am not surprised at this pugnacious display on the part of the Democrats," said ne of the new members from Indiana. "They have got so used to lighting among themselves that they cannot let the present opportunity pass without a scrimmage. "They remind me of nothing so much as an old married couple out in one of the hoosier counties, who were noted for their frequent quarrels. By and by the old man died and on the evening after he was buried the widow sat by the window ap parently grief-stricken and gazed thought fully out into the gloom for several hours. AN EMPTY HONOR.

"Finally she was urged to retire to her bedroom for rest and to assuage her sorrow. 'I can't leave now,' she said, 'I have been so used to having a quarrel regularly with the old man before going to bed that I can't sleep well without the excitement. I will wait here until the cats begin fighting on the backyard fence. The Speakership nomination is an empty honor, but Democrats won't allow it to pass with Democrats won't allow it to pass wittout a scrap."

It is teld by some to be doubtful whether the President is behind this move against Mr. Crisp, although it is being led by some of his avowed friends. Secretary Hoke Smith and Mr. Crisp are rival candidates for the Georgia Senatorship to succeed Gordon and represent the two factions of the Democracy on the silver question. Secretary Smith was invited by the Georgia berishators to follow Mr. Crisp in an ad-legislators to follow Mr. Crisp in an ad-dress on monetary questions. Some Democratic hangers-on around the Capitol from the last Congress declare that Hoke Smith would like to see Crisp de-feated for the Speakership nomination on account of his silver utterances, for that might weaken Crisp's canvass for Senator. In the closing days of the last Congress it became apparent that the President and the Speaker had pay ed up these political differences and were co-operating on mat-ters of party policy in spile of their di-verging financial views.

SITUATION IN THE SOTUR. The Southern members of Congress a they arrive in Washington discuss with some exactly the political situation in their section as viewed from the standpoint of the recent elections.

While the Democrats in Kennicky speak of a faint hope of a deadlock, that will carry the election of a Securor over entil the next session of the legislature, there is but little consolation in this for Senator Blackburn, whose free silver beresies have not been well received, and whose election with a Democratic legislature would be far from easy of accomplishment. Blackburn is said to be contemplating running for Representative in Congress from his district. This is practically his only chance to remain in public life. But there are other ambitions Democrats in the Eleventh district, and they will give him a

POLICE FORCE IS INADEQUATE

Robberies in Four Weeks Past.

o Many Officers Have Been Withdrawn to Guard the White House, Public Buildings and Official Social Functions That Too Few Are Left to Preserve the Peace

There is a marked disparity in the numer of robberies reported to the police and the number of police to investigate these robberies. The metropolitan police force numbers, including lieutenants, ser-geants, and detectives, about 457, and within the past four months fully twice that number of robberies have been re-ported. Of those reported, only a very small number have been run down and the property recovered or arrests made. The heads of the Department realize the inadequacy of the present force in point of numbers to properly cope with the waves of crime that from time to time sweep not only over this city, but the whole country, and a strong effort will be made before the close of the present year to increase the membersing of the force by nearly 200.

At present admost a ruth of the force is withdrawn from patrol duty and detailed on special work, such as the Executive Mansion, local government departments, etc. This leaves considerably less than 100 men to patrol 73 square miles of territory and furnish police protection to 270,000 people. PROPERTY NOT RECOVERED. But especially is the inndequacy of the present force shown in the vast number of robberies reported to police headquarters daily, and of the imbility of the police in most cases to recover the property and make arrests. Within the past four weeks twenty cases of housebreaking in the night and 142 larceny acces have been reported at headquarters and entered on the books. As soon as a larceny case, even of the most trifling nature, is reported, a detective is assigned to investigate it, but with only about eight headquarters' men on active outside duty, it is very difficult for them to give each individual case the at-hem to give each individual case the atention it requires.

Following as a list of the housebreakings and rotheries that have been reported within the past four weeks:
